“To be or not to be” from the play Hamlet by William Shakespeare in Sim Braille
And so shall heaven return to earth again
And make the heart to think it false again
Than that which is not true. And if it shall Thus jocundly resolve, then will we all
As sure a native to the resolution
To simple life, to quiet death, and with Such stately excess in our noble art
As by modestly true currents turn every
We lose in, and in, again.
